Gen. Trevino's Cavalry, Pursuing Fugitives, May Cut Them Off.

Gen. Acceta was killed in action by Gel. Cadera of the Carransa cavalry column during the cavalry engagement yesterday. Gen. Trevino, though wounded yesterday, was again in personal command jo-day and made an inspection of the fortifications with his staff.

An effort was made early this morning to storm Banta Rosa Hill, which is fortified and commands the approaches to the city from the south, southeast and southwest. Gen. Gensales Cuellar's infantry remained quiet and allowed the bandits to approach within easy rifle range before opening fire. When the advancing men were close Cuellar's men poured a deadly fire into the first files, fellowing this with volleys at intervals following this with volleys at intervals of one minute. The result was another retreat, which started at 2:30 A. M. and turing the heavy artillery on Cerro finita Rosa.

Villa left his troop trains at Horcasillas station, south of here, and Gen. Applicate Trevine has been ordered by Gen. Trevine to proceed in that direction with his cavalry and cut the bandits off from the trains on which they came from Santa Rosalia.

Gen. Trevine announced he considered the backbone of the Villa sttack was broken, but he is taking no chances on

There have been no disorders within the city and no damage has been done to property here, due to the fact that the Villa forces have no artillery.

Gen. Trevino took time to-day from the pork of directing his forces to receive the Associated Press correspondent and dany officially rumors in circulation at the border that any of his men were descring to Villa.

America to Develop Airplanes and Submarines Equal of Europe.

Washington, Nov. 24.—The 1915 mayal appropriation bill will probably be one of the first great supply bills ready for consideration in the House when Congress convenes next month. It will carry a total of nearly $400.000,000.

Rapid progress was made to-day by the House naval sub-committee doing preliminary work on the measure. Rear Admiral Griffin, Chief Engineer: Surgeon-General Braisted and Capt. Magruder, in charge of the naval militia division, completed explanations of estimates in the bill relating to the bureaus. Final figures for new sups await a decision concerning the size of the three battleships to be included in the programme. Estimates of costs cannot be completed until it is determined whether they are to be of $2,000, 38,000 or 40,000 tons displacement.

Admiral Griffin told the committee that American airplane and submarine constructors were developing rapidly satisfactory engines. He saw no reason why the performance of European craft of both types could not be squalled. His cwn bureau, the Admiral said, had about completed plans for a 500 horse-power. He also expressed the opinion that American feet submarines would make at least twenty knots an hour, engine difficulties now appearing to have been overcome.

"The commission found it impracticable to arrange a plan of joint border control through a common military force, and abandened the idea of a border sone, which has been so much discussed. It is, however, left to the commanders of both nations on the border to enter into such arrangements for cooperation against marauders whenever it is practicable.

Custuantia City, Nov. 24.—A fresh stack by Villa bandits on this city from the east was begun at 6 A. M. to-day and was repulsed with heavy lesses to the invaders.

The machine guns again did deadly execution in the ranks of the bandits, who crept up from the east under cover of a deep arroy, or dry wash. The rapid firers cut down the advancing thin lines of bandits like a mower in a field of standing grain.

The dead and wounded were left on the battlefield, as was done in the previous assault. When the enemy broke and ran in disorder the heavy artillery teok up the brunt of the fightling, as the machine guns were outranged. Gen. Gunna, commander of Gen. Jacinto Trevino's cavalry, pursued the bandits and completed their rout. The Villa forces fad toward the northwest and now are believed to be out of touch with the remaining Villa commands.

Among the wounded to-day was Gov. Francis Trevino, brother of Gen. Trevino, who was shot in the hand. Two effects of Gen. Trevino, brother of Gen. Trevino, who was shot in the hand. "These questions, as well as many others, have already been considered by the commission informally, and are to be given formal consideration when the commission reassembles. The present agreement may therefore be regarded as the first step only in the work of the commission. If this, however, is not found to be agreeable to the two Governments the commission will, by force of the understanding had between the two State departments, come to an end."

With the ratification of the protocol, however, Chairman Lane hopes to go forward with other negotiations for the help of Mexico. He issued a statement bearing on some of the plane which he American commissioners have in mind. His statement follows in part: mind. His etatement follows in part:

"The full policy of the United States with reference to Mexico is not to be stated in a phrase or in any protocol or series of protocols. We are to come out of Mexico just as soon as we can "decently and in order," and because we have other use for our troops who are there. But this is only a beginning to a policy which will make a Mexico that we can live with.

Andremache number from Bruch's "Achileus" and some songs.

The symphony was the only matter demanding particular attention, for the other two pieces (like Miss Brasiau) belong to the Sunday night concert repertoire. Rabaud's symphony, how ever, is a composition which has something to say, albeit perhaps not of the first importance. The composer studied under Massenet, and has undoubtedly heard music by Saint-Saens, but he has a pretty fancy of his own.

The symphony utilises the now hackneyed community of theme, but artistically. The chief motive of the first movement returns in what answers for the trio of the scheres, and in another place so does the second movement place so does the second movement chorale. Again near the close of the last movement the first movement theme returns, but the section is brilliantly ended by the first phrase of the chorale from the second. These devices would be futile were they not employed with judgment.

The composer does so employ them, and he also gives us a first movement full of virility of style and brilliancy of color. The scherzo is delightful in its piquant rhythms and the slow movement has character. The work abounds in contrapuntal skill, but it is not obtrusive. Elegance of melody and vigor of development chiefly impress the hearer. The composition was admirably performed.

Saint-Saens's opera "Samson et Dallia" had ita first hearing of the sean at the Metropolitan Opera House last evening. The auditorium was crowded to its capacity. The standing room was packed and there seemed to be an air of eagerness.

These facts perhaps justify the conclusion that Mr. Caruso's assumption of the role of Samson has met with decided popular approval. This is a subject for formed.

The Philharmonic Society gave its fourth Friday afternoon concert yesterday in Carnegie Hail. The programme drew largely from so-called "romantic" composers, and offered both variety and novelty. The orehestral numbers comprised Schumann's "Julius Casar" overture, opus 135; Mendelssohn's "Richard III." overture and Weber's overture to "Der Freischusts." Willem Willeke, the cellist of the Kneisel Quartet, was the soloist. He played Klughard's A minor concerto.

which will make a Mexico that we can live with.

"The border troubles are only symptoms. Mexico needs system treatment—not symptom treatment. She can give it to herself and we hope she will. We shall reserve to ourselves to treat her invading bandits as they should be treated, chasing them to a finish, if necessary, unless Mexico gets into shape to do this herself. This will serve Mexico's interest as well as ours and it will be the strongest possible deterrent to he her friend. She cannot be sick and strong at the same time. The world wants a new Mexico, where the poor and the ignorant will have a better chance. To this extent the world is with the revolution. The world has no sympathy with exploiters either, but it has great respect for rights that are wested. And we shall go along with

The programme of American songs was offered which had been printed for his recital in the same hall on November 2, and then had to be postponed because of a sudden cold, which compelled him to dismiss his audience after he had started and shown conclusively that he was unable to sing.

The selections in the list had been made with careful judgment and they furnished both an agreeable and artistic variety. There were groups of songs by Homer and Hartmann, two songs by Freer, and songs in manuscript by Mason, Porits, Beale, Braselton, Leach, and three songs by Bennett, to words from Byron's "Hebrew Melodies." Other composers represented were Wyman, McDermid, Hahn, Fogel and Campbell-Tipton.

The excellent results obtained by Mr. Clarke in his performance were obtained through good vocal technic, clear diction, fine tasts and in resources especially rich in temperament and imagination. In its lower range especially his voice cannot be called musical in quality, but this defect notwithstanding he is an accomplished singer, who can make above any sore he sings worth the

When Joseph McCann, warden, and John Devery and Patrick Murphy, keepers, took a siant at the slant eyed prisoner, they exclaimed: "He's not Hong."

The prisoner, cross-examined for two hours by the District Attorney, faced by Hong's former attorney, Benjamin J. Lynam, and by one of Hong's accusers, Genevieve Marasco, 12 years old, none of whom recognized him, admitted that his name is Charlle Lung.
